CUBE MUG

The playful Cube Mug is like a time machine that transports you back to a day and age when you used to play with colorful stacking blocks and design elaborate buildings for little yellow, geometric men. But since you still have work to do in the present, this handy block also serves as a lidded storage compartment for the included tea or coffee mug. Bright and imaginative, the design is sold in a variety of colors that can be stacked together to form an elaborate mug tower.

CUP LAMP

Appealingly simple, this whimsical lamp has a perky shade that is made from a paper cup and is just the right size for a small desk lamp or nightlight. The lamp can be powered with an AAA battery or a USB port, and its LED lights will supply a whopping of more than 10,000 hours of illumination. If you get bored with the designs the lamp comes with, you can always customize it by drawing on the blank cup that comes with it, or by stealing a new cup from a fast food restaurant (in case you've been secretly craving a Mickey D's lamp of your very own). How DIY.
